BUILDING OR RENOVATING? SECURITY & IRONMONGERY SHOULD NOT BE ADD-ONS!

TALK TO THE SPECIALISTS AT THE PLANNING STAGE. We recommend choosing the level of security and locks required before specifying the doors, gates or electronics. This will ensure that both timber and aluminium doors, as well as timber or steel gates, are built with stiles and specifications sufficient to allow for the fitting of secure, good quality locks, hinges, and handles.

- FREE CONSULTATIONS BY TELEPHONE - OR IN OUR SHOWROOM

No need to guess, or look for bolt-on solutions afterwards – take advantage of our over 90 years of cumulative experience. We understand ironmongery, and the relationship between doors, locks, handles, and electronics. Even the best electronics cannot function properly without the correct foundation – the doors and ironmongery!

- VAST RANGE ON DISPLAY

We stock and display a vast range of locks, knobs, handles, access control and other door ironmongery, in brass, nylon, aluminium, stainless steel, gold plated and other finishes. Most are on display in our showroom, where you can see, feel and compare the quality of the various items and finishes, and take advantage of our expertise, before making those important decisions.

- VISIT US

Ground floor, 43 Paarden Eiland Road – between Airton Timbers and Tiletoria.

- ON-SITE TROUBLE-SHOOTING & SPECIFICATION WRITING

David Miller has over 40 years experience in both specifying and installing security ironmongery, locks, panic exit hardware and access control systems, and he is available by appointment at hourly rates, to assist with specifications, supervision of contractors, and trouble shooting of problem installations.

We have answers for all ironmongery and security problems – from door closers to door stops, and we can tell you why so many locks, fire escapes and access control systems fail to work correctly!
